The decorations were palms, bride roses and maiden hair ferus.

Mrs. Collins, who was gowned in black and white silk with lace trimmings, presented the guests to the debatante, whose girlish gown of white chiffon formed a lovely setting for her brunette beanty.

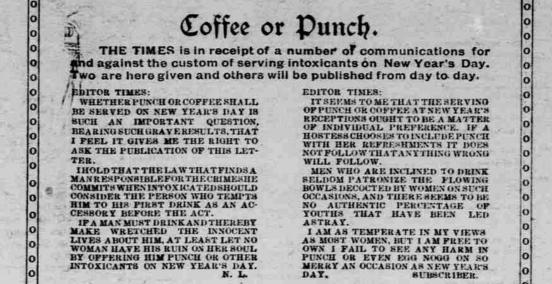

The receiving party were Mrs. Cathbert, in olive green crepon, with pale blue chiffon and white lace; Mrs. Battel Shepard, in white satin and chiffon; Miss Cox. in pink crepe and white lace; Mrs. Whitney, in white satin and bline velvet.

In the lea room Miss Shepard, in black satin and white velvet, poured tea, while Miss Tusiel presided over the chocolaic urn. The tea room was decorated in nisk, the fint hering carried out in a center-piece of La France roses and maiden hair terms. The candles and shades were of the same delicate pink and cast a becoming glow over the bright laces.

Mrs. John Envelorick Leech, gave a tea.

Mrs. Brookfield, who was one of Thack-eray's correspondents, and gathered up a sheaf of remembrances of him, has been do-ing the same thing for Tennyson. Among other stories, in describing a visit at Lord Ashburton's place, she gives a picture of "Tennyson's coming in to breakfast rather late one morning, with a perturbed ex-pression of face and his watch in his hand, saying, with great gravity. 'My watch pression of face and his watch in his hand, saying, with great gravity: 'My watch is stopped. What am I to do?' We all felt concerned for a moment until I think it was Mr. Fairbanks, who, as a practical man, with equal gravity rose from his chair, took the watch from Alfred's hand, asked for his key, wound it up, and silently returned it to its owner."

WOMEN NOW WEAR TIGHTS.

Ballet Costume Greater Object Lesson in Dress Reform Than Bloomers.

New York World. New York World.

"There has been an unprecedented sale in tights this year. This does not mean that ballet girls are in the increase, but that the bicycle babit is growing enormously among New York women." The head of the hosiery department of a ldg New York dry goods shop said this, and she illustrated it by showing the variety of a yles, colors and qualities in equestricano and pedestrian tights.

"You musn't think that women wear tights only on the stage or for outlings.

"You musn't think that wernen wear tights only on the stage or for outings. They are worn instead of the union undergaments by the best dressed society women. Thin women may wear them, but fleshy women must. You see, with excellent quality of wool and silk you can get more warmth with less material than in any other style of garment. There is an especially fleshy woman patron of ours for whom we have tights made especially, of extra thickness and warmth. She is of extra thickness and warmth. thereby enabled to dispense with underskirts and besides gaining more freedom from hampering petticoats, she avoids adding more bulk to her hips, and her channels-lined skirts hang beautifutly. All the best dressmakers advise lights for fleshy

"Why tights for bicycling?"
"Well, we sell the equestrian tights for riding, bicycling, skaling, and all outdoor sports, chiefly on account of warmth, and with short skirts and bleomers because they are better than long hose, which are likely to wrinkle or crease or get unfast-ened and look loose and untidy and feel unconfortable, evenunder leggings. Tights, if they are of good quality, always fit and take away the necessity for those abounnations, garters.

"We always have a good sale of equestrians as the stating season conies on.

There is such freedom of motion in them.

You may laugh, but I think the ballet has been more of an object lesson in dress referminanthe new worsan. You wouldn't think it, but the silk ones are warmer than think it, but the silk ones are wormer than the wool. Oh, yes! Much more expensive. The esition and wool tights come as low as $1, but $5 to $15, according to quality, is the average for the silk garments. Black we self-mostly. Yes, some women have them to match their gowns, but it is mostly among singe women that we sell the colored goods. The cashmers goods are very fine, and we sell the most of them, though the silk is more durable, and it costs more.

"I can almost tell a woman who wears tights by the way her skirts hang, and by her walk. The dressmakers say that tights belong to the era of fine art in dressmaking, for the graceful drapery they making, for the graceful drapery they make possible—

"Yes, ma'am; $4.59 a pair; warranted fast black." And the fat-and-forty cubtomer took four pairs.

CUTE BRIDE AND GROOM. Avoided the Ancient Joke Their Friends Played Upon Them.

Philadelphia Record. An up-town couple who were t any cown couple was several arried has used to brust of a very old but very emburrassing joke which their friends attempted to play on them. After the wedding reception at the home of the bride's parents the bride and grocen left the house to be driven to one of the railroad.

They found a carriage waiting for depots. They found a carriage waiting for them which was decorated with streaming white ribbons, and on the back was a large sign; "We are just married." Without making a protest they entered the carriage and were driven away. Of course the vehicle attracted universal attention, but the couple did not long remain the victims of the joke. A few blocks away the carriage stopped and they alighted and started the journey to the depot again in a plain carriage which the groom had thoughtfully provided for the occasion. He fixed matters up with the driver of the beribboned vehicle with a $5 bill, and when the couple reached the depot they enjoyed the satisfaction of perceiving that they attracted no more attention than as though they had been for years partners in the matrimonial contract. A few blocks away the carriage stopped and Joseph D. Daly, when the party enterest the sanctuary, and were married at the foot of the altar.

The pretty young bride was gowned exquisitely in ivory John McCullough satin, with a court train gramished with lace. The bodice was veiled with silver spangled chiffon and garianded with orange biossoms and her tuile veil was fastened to her dark halr with a magnificent sunbarst of diamonds. She carried a cluster of beide roses, caught with streamers of white.

Miss Gleason's gown was a daintily picturesque combination of yellow silk mousselaine de sole, and satin rithous, and her bounet was of American Beanty roses, tied with satin bows.

The church was artistically decorated, the altar being brilliant with lights and flowers and palms.

The ceremony was followed by a recention at the residence of the bride's parents, No. 502 First street northwest, during which Mr. and Mrs. Daly jert for a trip to Canada and the Lakes.

The bridal gifts were unusually numerous and handsome, among them being a check for $500 from the bride's father, an antique china our from Hon. John I.
